Viet Cong Slices Relief Column In Two

SAIGON (UPI) — Communist Viet Cong forces have sliced in two a massive column of government infantry and armor seeking to relieve a besieged U.S. special forces camp at Duc Co in the central highlands, a military spokesman said tonight. The development came as an emergency airlift brought a steady stream of American paratroopers to Pleiku, just 35 miles east of the camp where a showdown battle with the Viet Cong was in the making. The spokesman said the Viet Cong force was under continuous attack by skyraiders and jet bombers. Despite the split in the three-mile - long relief column, the government forces moved to within 3½ miles of the camp, the spokesman said. Hit Red Hideouts The U.S. fighter planes bombed and strafed Communist jungle hideouts along strategic Highway 19, flying cover for the divided Vietnamese relief force. The bodies of more than 250 Viet Cong rebels were counted on the battlefield by U. S. military advisers with the government force. Government losses were said to be "moderate" in the prolonged fighting. The relief column struck out along Highway 19 on Monday and shortly found itself with Viet Cong rebels both in the front and in the rear. The spokesman said the column was hit constantly with sniper fire and there was some light contact with the Communists today. The relief column is fighting its way through Viet Cong road-blocks and traps in an attempt to reach the camp where 13 American advisers and government forces have been battered by the Communists for more than two weeks.

At Duc Co, the beleaguered Americans and Montagnard (tribal) fighters have been unable to evacuate their wounded because of heavy Communist mortar fire from the surrounding jungles.

Trapped By Communists

More than 1,000 Vietnamese airborne troops were brought in by helicopters last week but they too became trapped around the camp by the strong Communist forces.

The column has only advanced 1½ miles in the past 24 (Continued on Page 26, Col. 3)

Ex-Local Pastor Disaster Chaplain

"You may as well go home. There is nothing you can do."

This is what the former pastor of a Richboro church told a group of 300 relatives and friends of the 53 victims of yesterday's explosion in the depths of a Titan II missile silo in Arkansas.

Capt. Michael Romano, chaplain at Little Rock Air Force Base, left his parsonage at the Addisville Reformed Church in Northampton Township earlier this year to serve with the armed forces.

The Reverend Romano was pastor of the Richboro church for three years.

REV. ROMANO

Capt. Romano was referring to the ambulances that slipped up the road with bodies as they were lifted from the shaft.

Before deciding on the chaplain post, he had considered a ministerial position with a penal institution.

Capt. Romano told the crowd gathered at the disaster site there was no hope and they should go home and rest.

"You can't learn anything, you can't do anything; you might as well go home and rest," he said. They're bringing your relatives right by you and you don't even know it."

AT HIGHWAY COMMISSION MEETING

Keller Asks Priority On Bucks Road Jobs

State Senator Marvin V. Keller, of Newtown, at a hearing in Harrisburg yesterday, urged the Pennsylvania State Highway Commission to assign "first priority" to 18 Bucks County highway improvements in its six-year program.

The recommendations, recently endorsed by the Bucks County Planning Commission, were developed by Senator Keller and members of the county delegation to the State House of Representatives, with Gerald B. Summerson, county engineer. The Lower Bucks County Chamber of Commerce also supported the priority list.

Priority List

Franklin C. Wood, executive director of the planning commission, submitted a statement announcing the planning commission's concurrence with the priority list.

"We feel it is important that prompt action be taken," he said "for the following reasons:

"Bucks County since 1940 has been the fastest growing county in Pennsylvania. Highway improvements have not kept pace with the rapid growth of population and activity.

Less Than 20 Miles

"We estimate that the total new state highways provided in the county in the past 25 years were less than 20 miles.

"An up-to-date system of highways is badly needed to meet the needs of our greatly expanded population and to help build the industrial base needed to support this population."

Three Bucks County members of the State House of Representatives, attended the hearing in the Senate caucus room. They were John S. Renninger, Alan Williams and James Wright. A delegation from the Lower Bucks County Chamber of Commerce also attended, headed by David R. Johnson, president of the chamber. With him were (Continued on Page 26, Col. 2)

New Facilities Planned In Bucks

Commissioners To Launch Park Land Program

The Bucks County Board of Commissioners intends to launch a large - scale development program for park land this fall, Commissioner Joseph O. Canby said last night.

Canby said that the board has commissioned the county park board with the job of drawing up a plan for construction of new facilities in the ten county parks. The long - range plan, which will include the estimated cost of the facilities, will be submitted this fall, he said.

Canby made the announcement at the tenth anniversary celebration of the establishment of the first county park — John Stover Tinicum Park — in 1955. The park is located on Route 32 near Erwinna.

His home was built over a style of each period of its construction. Plans call for the home to be furnished in the struction and open to the public as a museum when completed. The civic association recently set up a committee to supervise the furnishing of the home.

Good Evening!

Skies all blue again — and cooler.

Well, we're gaining on mid-August. By mid-September we'll be gaining on the first frost.

Also we're driving up to the full moon and tomorrow night it should be in all of its glory. Over the Delaware, it's never prettier anywhere.

Speaking of the Delaware, this salt water invasion is really creating something of a problem. You mean it's going to take a hurricane rain to send the invader back to the sea?

First Lady of the land to visit Lambertville tomorrow as part of a day-long tour of New Jersey to take a looksee at Project Head Start.

Somebody made a mistake with Mrs. Johnson's itinerary. She should have had at least a few hours visit in Bucks County, even though this would probably make her very unhappy with Texas.

And her husband is pushing a quick investigation into that Titan II silo disaster, taking the lives of 53 men.

The quicker the inquiry the better, we'd say. There are a lot of questions the Air Force should be ready to answer.

Jim Bunning again did himself proud last night as he pitched the Phillies to a 2-0 win over the Astros. Too darn bad Gene Mauch doesn't have a half dozen Bunnings with maybe a Sandy Koufax or so thrown in for good measure.

PGA Championship tourney begins tomorrow at Ligonier. And we simply don't know how long we're going to be able to continue loving temptation. It's a real lovely drive through the Alleghenies.

A genius is usually a crackpot until he hits the jackpot.

Wouldn't it be great to retire and not tell your wife?

Pa. Draft Plans To Call 19-Year-Olds

HARRISBURG (UPI) — Nine-teen - year - old Pennsylvanians face induction for military service for the first time since the Korean War.

Brig. Gen. Henry M. Gross, state selective service director, predicted today on the basis of monthly calls and availability of men older, 19-year-olds would be taken by October. Last week, he predicted 20-year-olds would be included in next month's draft.

Gross said 19-year-olds already are being called for pre-induction physicals and their numbers at examination stations are due to increase next month. "At this same rate, we might be touching some of the upper 19-year-olds by October," he said.

Pennsylvania is contributing 1,138 men this month, has been asked to draft 2,645 next month and expects to contribute 3,200 in October through stepped up calls stemming from the Viet Nam situation.

The last time calls were increased was during the Berlin crisis of 1961 but Gross said he believed present quotas are the highest since Korea. He also said it was his recollection the state's 175 draft boards last took younger than 20-year-old men during the Korean conflict.

Indian Police Fire On Mobs

NEW DELHI (UPI)—Police fired on crowds in the eastern state of Bihar Tuesday to prevent looting by mobs angered by food shortages and rising prices, it was reported today.

Reports received here said 30 persons were injured, two seriously, in Begussarai and Bihta township. Bihta is 20 miles from the state capital of Patna.

Wagner vs. Wagner

Beethoven Comes To Central Park And Outdraws New York Mets, 2-1

NEW YORK (UPI) — Beethoven came to Central Park last night and outdrew the New York Mets 2-to-1.

Overcoming their survival instinct and that old saw about the alleged dangers of Central Park after dark, 70,000 New Yorkers heard the New York Philharmonic inaugurate a series of free concerts in city parks. That's twice the number of patrons the Mets draw on an average night in Shea Stadium.

Sprawling over newspapers and blankets, they covered 12 acres. The site was a section of the park known as the "Sheep Meadow." Carlos Moseley, managing director of the orchestra, said he thought the name "most unsymphonic."

He introduced Mayor Robert F. Wagner, just back from his Florida honeymoon. Half the people stood to welcome the mayor and the other half yelled "down in front!" It was that kind of evening.

Wagner said he knew they came "to hear Wagner the musician not Wagner the mayor." (Continued on Page 26, Col. 4)

Holy Family Receives Grant

Holy Family College, north-east Philadelphia's only fully accredited, four-year, senior college, today received an unrestricted $500 cash grant from the Gulf Oil Corporation. Mr. D. G. Linn, district manager of Gulf, made the presentation to Sister M. Aloysius, president of Holy Family College in a brief ceremony at the college.

This award was made by Gulf under its aid-to-education program which this year will benefit 584 universities and colleges in the total amount of $595,500. Institutions to be eligible for these direct grants must be privately operated and controlled, and must obtain a major portion of their financial support from non-tax sources.

Fibrosis Campaign Needs Volunteers

More than 15,000 volunteers have enrolled for the annual appeal for funds sponsored by the Eastern Pennsylvania, Delaware and Southern New Jersey chapter of the National Cystic Fibrosis Research Foundation.

This represents more than one-third of the combined quota set by the chapter's 20 branches, according to U.S. attorney Drew J.T. O'Keefe, chapter president, with almost a month to go before the drive for $190,000 begins.

The campaign, scheduled for the month of September, will be highlighted by a door-to-door canvass on Cystic Fibrosis Sunday, Sept. 12. A total of 45,000 volunteers are sought for the drive to finance the fight against the dread children's disease.

Two of the 20 branches already are near their quota of volunteers, O'Keefe reported.

Naval Station Awarded Trophy

Captain N. R. Charles, USN, commanding officer of the Willow Grove Naval Air Station, Willow Grove, was notified recently that the Naval Air Station is the first winner of the new Richard K. West Trophy.

The trophy, donated to the Navy by the Naval Reserve Association, is being given for the first time this year. It will be an annual award to the Naval Air Reserve Training Unit or Naval Air Reserve Air Station having the best personnel retention record each fiscal year.

This year's trophy presentation to Willow Grove will be made during the Naval Reserve Association's annual conference in Memphis, Tenn., Sept. 30 through Oct. 2.

They are Wilmington, with 96 per cent, and Harrisburg, with 82 per cent.

O'Keefe urged interested persons to write to the chapter headquarters at 121 N. Broad St., Philadelphia, or to telephone LOcust 8-7280.

Money and Time

"In the fight against this insidious disease," O'Keefe said, "we need not only donations of money, we also need donations of time. A few hours, a few days — anything a volunteer can give will be appreciated."

The campaign will cover Bucks County, Philadelphia, Chester, Delaware, Montgomery, Berks, York, Lehigh, Lackawanna, Luzerne, Dauphin and Northampton Counties in Pennsylvania, Camden, Burlington, Gloucester, Cumberland, Atlantic, and Salem Counties in New Jersey; and all three of Delaware's counties.

Leister Will Occupy Pulpit

Wayne J. Leister, general manager of Central Bucks Building Supplies Inc., Newtown, will occupy the pulpit of the Newtown Methodist Church at both the 8:30 and 11 a.m. worship service on Sunday. His sermon will be "The Words of Man and the Language of God."

Leister is a member of the official board of the church, a member of the commission on missions and teacher of the We Three Bible Class.

New Facilities Planned In Bucks

Commissioners To Launch Park Land Program

The Bucks County Board of Commissioners intends to launch a large-scale development program for park land this fall, Commissioner Joseph O. Canby said last night.

Canby said that the board has commissioned the county park board with the job of drawing up a plan for construction of new facilities in the ten county parks. The long-range plan, which will include the estimated cost of the facilities, will be submitted this fall, he said.

Canby made the announcement at the tenth anniversary celebration of the establishment of the first county park — John Stover Tinnicum Park — in 1955. The park is located on Route 32 near Erwinna.

Attending were some 100 members and guests of the Delaware Valley Protective Association, the county park board and Tinnicum Civic Association.

The county park program in the past has been devoted primarily to land acquisition to coincide with the state and federal program to aid those municipalities which put land aside for recreational purposes.

Depend On Location

Canby said the type of development would depend on the park's location, the extent of housing in the area, and other factors.

The long-range plan for Tinnicum, for example, includes a swimming pool, playground, ball diamond, tennis courts, picnic center, arboretum, art barn and an amphitheatre.

The commissioner also said the board would engage an architect in renovating the home of the late John Stover, grist and saw mill operator, who donated his land to the county in 1955. His home was built over a style of each period of its construction of years. Plans call for the home to be furnished in the struction and open to the public as a museum when completed. The civic association recently set up a committee to supervise the furnishing of the home.

Pa. Draft Plans To Call 19-Year-Olds

Cuba Executes 3 As Spies

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Three men charged with being agents of the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency were executed by firing squads in Cuba, Havana Radio said today.

The executed men were identified as Roberto Fernandez Cobo, Raul Pereira Castaneda and Roger Sabino Sopena, all crew members of the Cuban freighter "Gonzalez Lines."

The broadcast, monitored here, said men were trained to use incendiary devices, radio transmitters and secret writing materials.

The executed men were charged with being especially trained to obtain military, economic and political information and report it to the CIA, according to the broadcast.

Food Costs May Hit Peak In Sept.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The housewife who is paying a dime more for every dollar's worth of food than she did a year ago may be ready to swear whoever is responsible. But she may have trouble finding her target.

The Agriculture Department says different factors operated on different kinds of food staples, but the general explanation of a 10.1 per cent rise in prices is the usual one: Supplies were smaller than the demand.

Food fats and oils, for example, were in good supply in this country, but short elsewhere, so foreign customers came in and bid up prices here. On the other hand, pork supplies fell and prices rose because of purely domestic decisions. U.S. farmers became discouraged with low returns.

The department had a somewhat muted note of cheer. Prices should reach their peak this month or next and then ease somewhat but not all the way down to last year's levels.

Items whose prices increased the most by midyear included food fats and oils, meats, fresh vegetables and potatoes. Partly offsetting these advances were lower prices for oranges, sugar and coffee. Pork prices increased 13 per cent, fresh fruits 22 per cent, fresh vegetables 7 per cent, and beef 10 per cent.

It is normal for retail prices to go up a little by midyear. That is a time when supplies are at the lowest level because it is at the end of the previous year's production and just ahead of the new harvests. But this year's price increases were above normal.

In the case of pork, slaughter fell off nearly 10 per cent.

In the case of beef, prices advanced largely because of the shrinkage in pork supplies and a consequent small reduction in total meat supplies.

The department expects some easing off of beef and pork prices later in the year. It may be another year before total meat supplies reach 1964 levels. That's because it takes time for an improvement in meat animal prices to be reflected in larger supplies.

Prices of fresh vegetables shot up during the first half of the year because of reduced production and supplies. Factors included adverse weather during the late winter and spring in some producing areas and a reduction in acreages of some vegetables because of farmers' fears they would not be able to get enough labor.

But in recent weeks, vegetable production has increased. Supplies are now larger than a year earlier and prices have turned downward. High prices for potatoes reflected largely the fact that last year's fall crop was short. Growers who had received lower prices had planted fewer acres.

Reduced production of some early fruits, also, was reflected in higher retail prices.

Two Face Charges Of Coin Box Theft

A 21-year-old man is on bail today and his 18-year-old companion is in Bucks County Prison charged with larceny, receiving stolen goods and conspiracy by Lower Southampton Township police.

Francis Stefanik of 216 Bristol Road, Feasterville, was released on $300 bail set by Justice of the Peace Albert Pantlen for his alleged part in breaking open three newspaper coin boxes in Feasterville at about 11 o'clock last night.

Stefanik told police he was laid off from work two weeks ago and needed the money. When asked to empty his pockets at police headquarters on Bridgetown Pike, Feasterville, he placed $1.49 on a table in pennies, nickels and dimes, police reported.

Stefanik told police that was the total take on the three box thefts.

Combed Area

Before police apprehended Stefanik at his home — and later in the evening, Bourret — police vehicles combed the Feasterville area for the vehicle reported seen in the vicinity of the burglarized newspaper boxes.

Bill Gignac, Courier-Times staff writer, accompanied Officers Robert Reynolds and Peter Iaccarino in the search. Gignac witnessed the burglary at the shopping center and gave police a description of the auto and its two occupants.

Other officers in the two-hour search of the vehicle and its occupants were Sgt. John Engelhart and Carl Dowdell.

To Ease Drought

Scranton Urges Mine Water Use

WASHINGTON, D. C. (UPI) — Gov. William W. Scranton proposed today that impounded mine waters in his state be channeled into the Delaware River Basin to help ease drought conditions in the Middle Atlantic States.

Scranton made the suggestion in a presentation prepared for a White House conference with the governors of New York, New Jersey and Delaware on the drought problems.

Scranton said 12 billion gallons of drinkable water in abandoned strip mines near the Schuylkill River could be released when necessary. He also proposed construction of a plant capable of producing pure water from mine water at the rate of 100 million gallons a day to provide future supplies for the Delaware Basin.

Scranton said there are two large reservoirs of impounded mine water, each containing several billion gallons which has been found suitable for drinking. He said the water could be funneled into the Schuylkill by installing pumps and a short pipeline.

"This installation of these pumping facilities would not only insure Philadelphia of a continuing supply of that portion of its municipal water now taken from the Schuylkill but even more important, would keep the advancing salt line now moving up the Delaware from approaching the city's Torresdale intake and actually help it to recede to a point below the Schuylkill's mouth at the Philadelphia Navy Yard," Scranton said.

Scranton also advanced the use of the recent water purification process developed by

Westinghouse Electric Corp. which he said "is not only economically feasible today but could be used to tap these resources within the next 12 to 18 months."

He said company engineers have reported the possibility of a plant in the anthracite area to produce 100 million gallons of pure water daily at a cost of about 30 cents per 1,000 gallons.

"This water could be used to meet critical needs of northeastern Pennsylvania whenever necessary and, piped into either the Delaware or the Schuylkill, this water would do much to augment water supply for the whole Delaware Basin in the future," he said.

Senate Votes On Urban Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bill to create a cabinet department of housing and urban development comes up for a final vote in the Senate today. Passage is considered certain.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield won an agreement to limit the remaining debate on the bill which he said should bring passage by midafternoon.

Sponsors estimated about 55 to 60 of the 100 senators would support the high-priority administration measure in the show-down test.

But they were sufficiently concerned about the absence of 10 of the bill's backers Tuesday to delay the vote 24 hours.

2nd Suspect Held In Twp. Assault Case

Bristol Township police didn't have an easy time in nabbing the second suspect wanted in connection with the beating and robbery 11 days ago of a Bristol Terrace man.

James W. Flood, 30, of 432 Court A, Bristol Terrace, was arrested yesterday afternoon, but not before giving Detective James Dunn and Patrolman Gerald Sternrich a struggle, the police reported. The police officers said they had to subdue Flood and put him in a patrol car after he was arrested by Dunn in the Terrace shopping center.

Flood had been arrested July 30 and was released in $1,500 bail for a hearing on aggravated assault and battery charges. Flood and Alfreddie Walker, 26, of 540 Court B, had been charged with beating and robbing William Cooper, 28, of 824 Court E, of $60 outside Chat's Bar, Beaver Dam Road, at 2:50 a.m. on July 30.

Flood, police reported, jumped bail and failed to appear for a hearing on Aug. 3 before Justice of the Peace Rene J. Tritschler, Croydon. Walker appeared at the hearing and was held for Bucks County Court on five charges.

Flood was taken before JP Tritschler yesterday and charged with resisting arrest. Flood was committed to Bucks County Prison in lieu of $1,000 bail.

3 Injured In Car Crash

Three persons were injured in two auto accidents in Bristol Township yesterday afternoon.

Two children were hurt in a two-car collision on State Road at Excelsior Ave., Croydon, at 3:45 p.m.

Albert Sylvester, 6, of 2816 State Road, Croydon, suffered abrasions of the lower lip and his sister, Donna, 4½, sustained bruises of the scalp. They were riding in a car operated by their mother, Mildred, 26. The children were treated at Lower Bucks County Hospital and released.

Mrs. Sylvester's auto was involved in the collision with a car driven by George W. Kutzer, 17, of 1217 Pennsylvania Ave., Croydon.

Police cited Mrs. Sylvester for driving too fast for conditions.

At 4:15 p.m. yesterday, Mary A. Otto, 48, of 3536 Snowden Ave., West Bristol, suffered a cut lip and broken tooth in an accident on Route 413 at Newport Road.

Police said Mrs. Otto's auto was involved in a collision with a car driven by John J. Thomas, 19, of 2821 N. 9th St., Philadelphia.

Grocer Outsmarts Bandits, Kills 1

NEW YORK (UPI)—If there is just one place would-be bandits should avoid, it's Charlie's grocery and delicatessen—but they just can't seem to get the message.

Tuesday night three men entered the little shop at 1458 Lexington Ave. in Manhattan's Spanish Harlem and leveled a snub-nosed revolver at proprietor Charlie DiMaggio.

They ordered the 65-year-old, short, balding shopkeeper into the washroom and started to dip into the cash box.

Charlie, peering out through a peep-hole he had cut in the door, waited for his chance.

Then he pulled the trigger. When the smoke cleared, one of the holdup men lay dead and another critically wounded.

Police said Charlie fired one blast from a 7.35 mm Italian army rifle he had discreetly tucked away in the washroom for just such an occasion. The slug passed through the first hood, fatally wounding him, and slammed into his partner. The third man grabbed $300 and ran.

Charlie should be pretty accustomed to the routine. Over the past 20 years, he's been held up 30 times—and during the same period, he wounded a half dozen of his assailants and killed three—including his latest quarry.

Detectives said the mortally wounded man, tentatively identified as Earl Hickson, about 30, staggered onto the door and fell dead on the pavement outside.

The second man managed to run a couple of blocks down Third Avenue before collapsing into the arms of four radio car patrolmen.

Asst. Dist. Atty. John J. Sheehy said there were no plans to file charges against Charlie. A man's delicatessen is his castle, you might say.

The sign in front of the Bristol Township Municipal Building speaks for itself. The three-story structure at 85 Holly Drive, Levittown, will be vacated by the township upon completion of the new township building on Bath Road in the Laurel Bend section. The building pictured here has an ancient history dating from Colonial times, but has outgrown its usefulness in today's modern government. (Courier-Times Photo)

Rebels Balk At OAS Plan

SANTO DOMINGO (UPI) — Dominican rebels held out today against an Organization of American States (OAS) peace plan.

Rebel chief Col. Francisco Caamano denounced a counter proposal to one suggestion and detailed objections to three others.

Caamano said he planned to discuss his proposal with OAS officials "in the interests of reaching a (political) solution as soon as possible" to the 15-week political stalemate.

While OAS mediators met with the junta government of Maj. Gen. Antonio Imbert Barrera, the Dominican Communist party issued a statement criticizing the rebel regime for failing to keep the public informed about the current negotiations.

The Communists said the OAS was guilty of "maneuvers" and criticized "vacillating sectors of the bourgeoisie in the constitutionalist (rebel) front."

In an effort to get both sides to accept a provisional government, the OAS has ended cash aid to the Dominican Republic. The three-man OAS peace team presented its proposal on what seemed to be a "take-it-or-leave-it" basis after prolonged discussions with both sides failed to produce any agreement.

Crane Boom Injures Man In L. M'field

A construction worker on Lower Makefield Township's new sewer system was seriously injured yesterday when he was struck by the boom of a crane while working in a trench on Beechwood Lane near Dolington Road.

Morrisville Loan Fund Raises $640

Mrs. Harriet Gindin, chairman of the Morrisville Student Loan Fund's Theater benefit at the Lambertville Music Circus, reported the fund was enriched by $640 as a result of the cooperation of all concerned.

Mrs. Gindin said the fund sold 400 tickets to the benefit showing of Oliver! July 28 at the Music Circus.

She said she particularly wanted to express the fund's appreciation to all the Morrisville residents who purchased tickets to aid the fund raise monies to help Morrisville students further their education.

Mrs. Gindin noted that help for the fund came from as far away as Philadelphia, with many residents of Levittown, Doylestown, Trenton and other communities joining with the Morrisville residents to make the campaign for funds a success.

"Without the support of all members of the committee and the generous response of the patrons the fund would not have met its goal," she said.

Stephen Dudash, 36, of Pottsville, was taken to the Mercer Hospital, Trenton, by the Yardley - Lower Makefield Ambulance. After receiving emergency treatment, Dudash was admitted to the hospital with broken ribs, broken nose and head injuries. He is still reported in serious condition this morning.

Police Chief Robert Waterson said the rig's oiler, Richard Engle of 101 Linden Ave., Wilmington, Del. had to be taken to the hospital by the Union Fire Co. ambulance of Morrisville, for treatment for shock, following the accident.

Waterson said, although the accident is still being investigated, workmen said Dudash was working at the bottom of the seven-foot deep trench and the crane's boom was laying alongside the rim of the trench, not operating at the time. He said it is not known if the ground collapsed under the boom, or if it slid into the trench. He said no one was in the cab when the accident happened.

Dudash and Engle are employed by the Charles Trippe Construction Co. of Colmar, sewer construction contractor working on the upper section of the township's $5.6 million sanitary sewer system.

JERSEY SWAMPLAND

New Jersey's Great Swamp, an 8,000-acre tract only 30 miles from New York City, teems with wild life in its marshes, fields, meadows, bogs and sandy ridges, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

We learned something from the big boys.

We're not above borrowing a good idea when we see one.

And the idea of a station wagon with all the virtues of a bus was too good to resist.

Which is why the Volkswagen Station Wagon has so much in common with other buses.

The driver is way up front, so he can see where he's going.

The engine is in back, out of the way. There are windows all around (21) including the skylight kind on top.

The seats are chair-high. And you can even have an aisle to step to the rear.

The Volkswagen Station Wagon has a bit less headroom than a real bus, but it has more doors (5 in all) and a sunroof that slides back for lots of air and lots of view.

There's so much room inside the VW, you may think you're driving the real thing.

But not when you park; the VW Wagon is only 9 inches longer than the VW Sedan.

Lately, we've spotted a few other bus-type station wagons on the scene.

So maybe things have worked out evenly after all.

The big boys learned something from us.

Morrisville Spent $158,000 Last Year

Residents' Complaints Of Flooding Referred To Sanitation Committee

By ED GLOWKA
Courier-Times Staff Writer

The rains came to Morrisville this week and so did the complaints to borough council about the lack of proper drainage in some sections of the borough.

Although Morrisville was least hard hit of many communities in the Lower Bucks area, residents attending last night's meeting scored council for improper drainage at Palmer and Magnolia Aves.

During the storm several inches of water flooded the intersection as the powerful rains overtaxed the storm sewer system. When the rains ceased, the water drained off the streets.

Complaints

In a previous storm this summer, similar flooding caused numerous complaints to be registered.

The spokesmen claimed that even after a light rain the intersection is flooded as the drains are inadequate for the job.

Council president, Michael Demech, said the borough spent $158,000 of its own money, plus an additional $158,000 in federal monies last year to install new drains at the intersection to relieve the drainage problem. He stated it would be unreasonable to expect council to spend more money to rebuild the drainage service in order to handle unusual heavy storms that occur only once or twice a year.

Doing Job

He said he and council sympathized with the residents of the area and with other residents when heavy rains flood the streets but the storm sewer system was designed for normal rains and is doing its job.

Demch referred the complaints to the council's sanitation committee and the borough engineer. It was noted that at a recent meeting of the committee with the firm of Albright and Friel, consulting engineers, the company stated even an 18-foot diameter pipe would not be able to handle that amount of rain in such a short time.

The storm sewer system is designed to accommodate normal rain falls but are not able to carry off a large, heavy quantity of rain water when it falls in a short period of time, Demech said.

It was noted that the drainage system carried off the water for normal flows.

Approve Hook Up

In other business, borough council approved a request for water service from a Falls Township developer, who plans to erect a 200 unit apartment house in Falls Township.

The project, which is expected to begin next month, or in October will be serviced by the Morrisville water system, as it now services that section of Falls Township.

Borough Council also approved a resolution which will accept the new Penn-Warner Industrial Park, Tyburn Road and Old Rt. 13, as part of the borough's sewer service area.

Dr. Rollins Will Address Rotary

Dr. Charles Rollins, president of the Bucks County Community College, will be the principal speaker at tomorrow's meeting of the Morrisville Rotary Club in the Pennsbury Inn.

Dr. Paul Phillips, superintendent of the Morrisville School System, will introduce Dr. Rollins at the 6:15 p.m. meeting in the Inn. Dr. Rollins will speak on the planning for the college, its aims and goals as it begins the first year of operation.
